

August 30, 1979

Cable from the Foreign Ministry, 'On the Commemoration of Vietnam's National Day'

Citation:

"Cable from the Foreign Ministry, 'On the Commemoration of Vietnam's National Day'", August 30, 1979, Wilson Center Digital Archive, Fujian Provincial Archives, 222-12-287, 23. Translated by David Cowhig. <https://digitalarchive.umd.edu/document/291005>

Summary:

The Chinese Foreign Ministry proposes an olive branch gesture towards Vietnam.

Credits:

This document was made possible with support from The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars

Original Language:

Chinese

Contents:

Translation - English

Fujian Province Telegram Received

From: Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Precedence: Priority

Device No. 302

Serial No. 11

Principal agency responsible: Foreign Affairs Bureau Office

Already transmitted to Standing Committee, government departments, commissions and offices

(Confidential)

On the Commemoration of Vietnam's National Day

To the Guangxi Autonomous Region Foreign Affairs Office and to the Foreign Affairs Offices of Guangdong, Yunnan, and Fujian Provinces:

Owing to the Vietnam authorities continuing and intensifying their policy of treating China as an enemy and to Vietnam and the PRC continuing to maintain diplomatic relations, we will send a short congratulatory telegram in the name of the National People's Congress Standing Committee to the Standing Committee of the National Assembly of Vietnam. The telegram will stress that maintaining the friendship between the Chinese and Vietnamese people is in line with the fundamental interests of the people of our two countries. If Vietnamese expatriates in China organize local celebrations of Vietnam's national day, we shall not provide assistance nor shall we interfere. If that occasion is used to spread anti-China propaganda, that should be addressed and handled appropriately.

Ministry of Foreign Affairs

August 30, 1979