

October 5, 1962
Handwritten Note for the Record by Colonel General
S.P. Ivanov

Citation:

"Handwritten Note for the Record by Colonel General S.P. Ivanov", October 5, 1962, Wilson Center Digital Archive, Library of Congress, Manuscript Division, Dmitrii Antonovich Volkogonov papers, 1887-1995, mm97083838, reprinted in Cold War International History Bulletin 11. Translated by Raymond Garthoff.
<https://digitalarchive.umd.edu/document/111550>

Summary:

Ivanov takes notes on a conversation with Khrushchev regarding the progress of weapons en route to Cuba.

Original Language:

Russian

Contents:

Translation - English

[Handwritten Note for the Record by Colonel General S.P. Ivanov]

By VCh [secure telephone]

17:20 hours 5 October 1962

N.S. Khrushchev telephoned from [illegible] and inquired how the shipment [of nuclear weapons] was going.

Ivanov reported: The Indigirka arrived 4 October. No overflights [by U.S. surveillance aircraft]. [word illegible] shipment 22 [unclear reference]. In transit 20 [days].

Transport with special [nuclear] munitions Aleksandrovsk is loaded and ready for dispatch. Permission requested to send it.

N.S. Khrushchev: Send the Aleksandrovsk. Where are the Lunas and IL-28s?

I responded: en route.

[NSK:] Everything is clear. Thanks. [two words illegible]

Written by S.P. Ivanov [signature]

Executed in one copy,
on one sheet, without a draft

Major General G. Yelisseyev [later stamped:]

Top Secret

No. 746-1

Yelisseyev

4 [sic; should be 5] October 1962